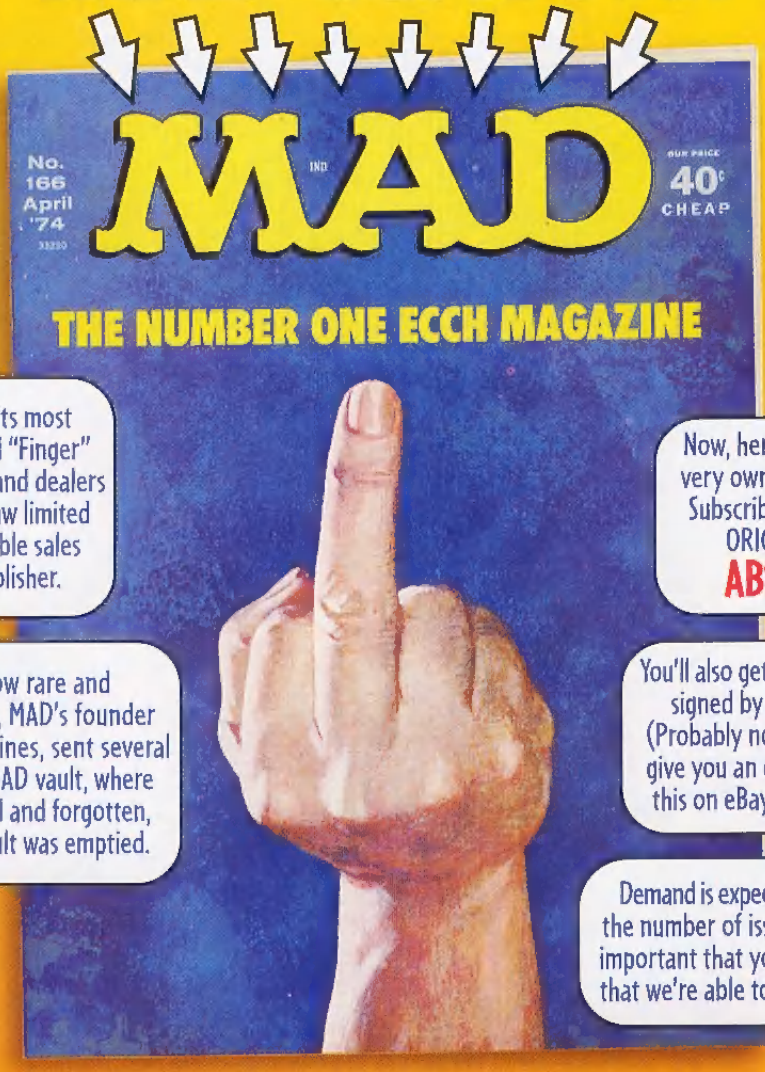
...AND OWN THIS MAD CLASSIC!



In April 1974, MAD published its most infamous cover— the so-called "Finger" cover. Rejected by many newsstand dealers across the country, the issue saw limited distribution, resulting in horrible sales and one very depressed publisher.

With returns of this now rare and collectible issue pouring in, MAD's founder and publisher, William M. Gaines, sent several boxes of the issue to the MAD vault, where they remained, undisturbed and forgotten, until last year when the vault was emptied.

Now, here is your chance to own your very own copy of this legendary issue. Subscribe to MAD Classics and get an ORIGINAL COPY of MAD #166 ABSOLUTELY FREE!

You'll also get a Certificate of Authenticity signed by MAD editor John Ficarra. (Probably not worth much, but it might give you an edge when you try to resell this on eBay a few months from now!)

Demand is expected to be high and the number of issues is limited, so it's important that you act NOW to insure that we're able to give you the finger!

8 ISSUES FOR JUST $24 (CHEAP!)

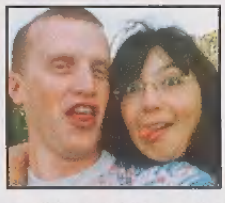
Make A Dumb Wish Foundation™

I've been a MAD fan for years. For a long while I've read and reread each issue till it practically fell apart. As a rational person, I was sure no man would like a MAD-reading girlfriend, so when I met Paz, I didn't tell him about my little addiction. One day, as we were leaving for a vacation abroad, my boyfriend and I came across a magazine stand. I couldn't resist the glossy covers and bought an issue. To my great joy, Paz turned out to be a closeted MAD fan as well, and we've been reading together ever since. A few weeks ago we got engaged (and are due to marry in October). The first thing my husband-to-be bought us was a 2-year subscription to MAD! Anyway, after boring you with all the details, I was hoping the heart-warming story is enough to grant me a little dumb wish from your Make A Dumb Wish Foundation™. Can you please print this letter, or maybe (dare I dream) our picture, so I can present it as a wedding gift to my lovely Paz? (I don't earn enough for a real gift).



Mor (Blur) Lurie, Tel Aviv, Israel

Sacre Blur — We don't know if this statistic holds true for Israel, but here in the States, 50% of marriages end in divorce. But being that you're both MAD fans, it's pretty much 100% guaranteed that your union is doomed! If we were you, we'd make sure that subscription is in your name only! —Ed. P.S. We'd love to see a photo of the two of you holding an issue of MAD on your wedding day!

MAD IN MYSPACE

If you haven't become a friend of MAD's yet — what are you waiting for? Go to www.myspace.com/worldofmad! And if you've added us already, don't forget to leave your comments about the newest issue!

MAD CELEBRITY SNAPS

Jacob Buhler of Brooklyn, NY sent in this photo of himself, his friend Hudson Sackrider-DeRicco and Spider-Man's Aunt May, Rosemary Harris. Judging by the boys' desperate and glazed-over looks, she clearly had just given them the boring "With great power comes great responsibility" speech that she gives Peter in every freaking Spider-Man movie!

JACOB, MS. HARRIS AND HUDSON

THERE'S NO BUSINESS LIKE SNOW BUSINESS

My uncle lives in upstate New York and we were visiting there with my cousins when this winter storm came. We got snowed in the house and had to wait for hours on end for help to come. We were wandering around the house when we found my uncle's collection of MAD magazines from the '80s. Thanks for providing us with hours and hours of entertainment! We would never have made it through without you guys!

Name Withheld,
Via letters@madmagazine.com

Err...you're welcome? Say, did you happen to thank the people who actually rescued you? We're glad we entertained you and all, but we're pretty sure that the lion's share of your gratitude should go to whoever dug you out of that snowy grave! We hope you didn't lose any extremities to frostbite! Enjoy the thaw! —Ed.

Make A Dumb Wish Foundation™ UPDATE

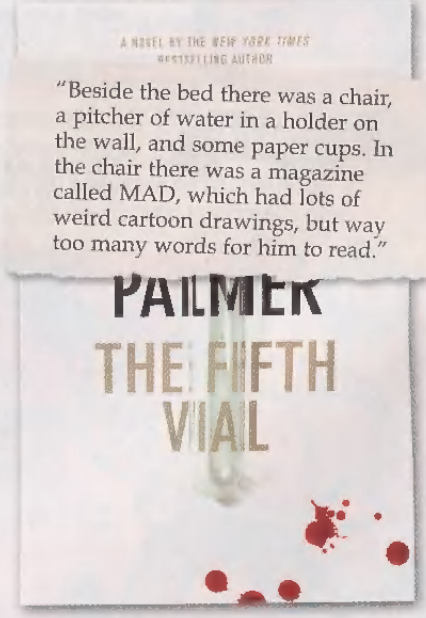
I am writing to officially retract a letter I wrote to the Make A Dumb Wish Foundation™. I asked you guys to please petition my parents, because we were, at the time, as close to Amish as you get without owning a butter churn! However, since that letter was printed, we've gotten Comcast cable, a faster Internet connection and I even have an iPod now! This may sound average for you guys, but it's huge leaps forward for my parents, believe me. I don't know if it was just good luck, or if the Usual Gang of Idiots have brainwashed my family, but either way, thanks!

Nick Kuell, Danbury, CT

Nickelback — We're feeling a bit put out here at the Make A Dumb Wish Foundation™. We're used to this being a thankless job, but this newest letter really pushed our buttons! We could understand if you retracted your initial request because you had changed your mind and decided that the material items didn't matter. But the fact is, you made a wish, we granted it and now you've written in to take back your original wish — as though your dreams came true completely independent of all our hard work on your behalf. That's like going to the emergency room with a severed arm, having a doctor stitch it back on and then saying to him "Oh, well, looks like I don't need you after all, my arm is fine!" We're happy for your good fortune, but a bit more gratitude (and perhaps a muffin basket) wouldn't have killed you! —Ed.

MAD BLURBS

In his newest medical thriller, The Fifth Vial, author Michael Palmer made the mistake of mentioning MAD. We hope this doesn't affect the sales!



A NOVEL BY THE NEW YORK TIMES
BESTSELLING AUTHOR
"Beside the bed there was a chair, a pitcher of water in a holder on the wall, and some paper cups. In the chair there was a magazine called MAD, which had lots of weird cartoon drawings, but way too many words for him to read."
PALMER
THE FIFTH VIAL

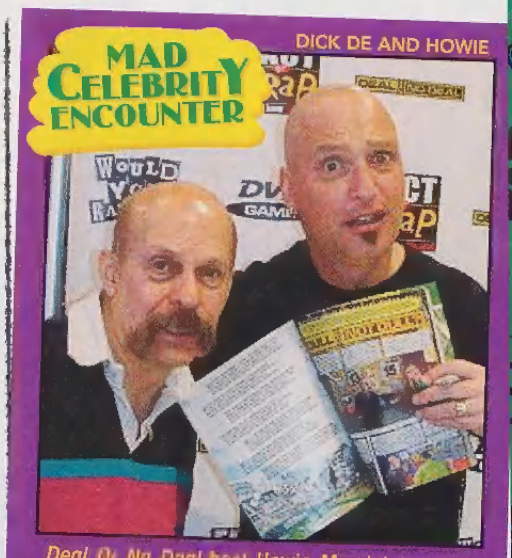
A GRIM FERRY TALE

I have a problem that regrettably only you can help with. I am 23 years old and everyday I commute to work with this clan of geriatrics on the Staten Island Ferry who never tire of telling me every single mind-numbing account of their mundane lives. Most of the time, I'm trying to ward off a hangover and have no real interest in hearing about how so-and-so's cat isn't reacting well to his brand of food, or how one guy's indigestion kept him up since 4 a.m. It's enough to make me wonder how cold the water would be if I dove off the side of the ferry. My only respite from it is the one day each month when MAD comes out, and they're all too consumed with your crap to tell me about their own. But sadly, this is but one morning of tranquility which is why I am asking you to make MAD a daily publication. Think about it at least.

Raymond McConnville,
Staten Island, NY

A Ray In the Life — We don't think you should do anything as drastic as jumping overboard — and we certainly aren't about to work any harder on this magazine. From the look of those geezers, they don't have much Ferry-riding time left, if you know what we mean. You might say that it looks like their subscriptions are about to expire! That is to say, they're old and will be dead soon! In fact, by this time next month, all your problems could be solved! See ya on the Hurricane Deck! —Ed.
P.S. You shouldn't worry about getting enough peace and quiet — judging from the tone of your whiny and boring letter, you're going to be spending most of your life alone! —Ed.

RAYMOND (RIGHT) AND HIS POSSE



Deal Or No Deal host Howie Mandel recently confronted MAD's Maddest Writer Dick DeBartolo about "The Dull Or Not Dull" spoof that he wrote in MAD #466. Judging by Howie's expression, he didn't like it...or he ate some bad clam strips!

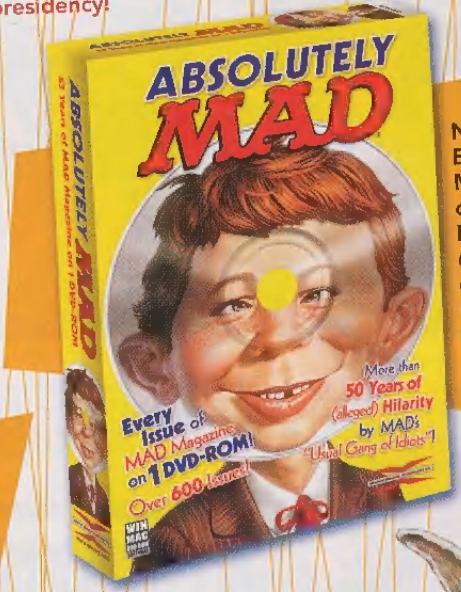
Coming to bookstores this June, MAD bids a less-than-fond farewell to our Commander-In-Chief with The MAD War on Bush — a 96-page collection of all of our "best" Bush material, including two pull-out posters and an introduction by Jimmy Kimmel! At least one good thing came out of his presidency!



ABSOLUTELY MAD
More than 50 Years of (alleged) Hilarity by MAD's "Usual Gang of Idiots"!
Every Issue of MAD Magazine on 1 DVD-ROM!
Over 600 Issues!

Now you can have EVERY issue of MAD magazine on one easy-to-ignore DVD! That's over 600 issues all on one disc and it's on sale now! (By the way, this issue isn't on it!)

Before MAD was a magazine, for its first 23 issues, MAD was a comic book put out by EC Comics. EC also put out such titles as Tales From The Crypt, Shock Suspenstories, Weird Science and Two-Fisted Tales. Those four titles from the 1950s are now available in hardcover volumes, printed from the original artwork with newly generated color and new forewords by Steven Spielberg and George Lucas! They're on sale now at bookstores, comic shops and online!

Just in time for Star Wars' 30th anniversary comes MAD About Star Wars — a collection of MAD's best Star Wars material from the last three decades! Written by former Lucasfilm employee and current MAD Senior Editor, Jonathan Bresman, it includes, not only tons of articles, but also trivia, observations and exclusive anecdotes from MAD writers and artists, Lucasfilm staff, and stars of the films! Plus a forward by George Lucas himself! It's on sale in the fall.

Here's a shot of the new paint job on my '85 Toyota pickup. I've got plans for the whole truck, but I'm still reading through Spy Vs. Spy: The Complete Casebook for some more inspiration.

THE BIG QUESTION

For the past few issues, we asked readers to send in their votes for which celebrity they would most like to see gunned down by paintballers. In a landslide "victory" our readers chose morning talk show loud mouth Rosie O'Donnell to take a rainbow-hued pummeling. Enjoy, you blood-thirsty jackals!

ARTIST: HERMANN MEJIA

This Month's Question:
What celebrity would you like to see "clown dunked" in a septic system?

- Anna Nicole Smith's Sidekick/Lawyer/Opportunist Howard K. Stern
- Presidential Player-Hater Hillary Clinton
- American Idol's Space Filler Ryan Seacrest
- Man-faced Gyrator Fergie

Please send your votes by e-mail (letters@madmagazine.com) and make sure you put "The Big Question" in the subject line, or via snail mail to Amy "The Big Question" Vozeolas, MAD Magazine, 1700 Broadway, New York, NY 10019.

READER ALERT!

If you were lucky enough to get your letter printed on this month's Letters Page then you'll get The Art of Vintage Marvel Notebook Set courtesy of our friends at Chronicle Books. Don't get your webs in a tangle if you didn't make it, they are on sale now!

MEET THE '08 PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES

THIS MONTH: HILLARY CLINTON

- Her "unannounced" agenda this time around? Universal Hair Care.
- Has an almost insurmountable lead in the polls amongst the growing sector of women voters who have slept with her husband.
- Has had "work" done on her ankles.
- What she says she'll miss most about leaving the Senate? Those long moonlit walks on the Potomac with fellow Senator Chuck Schumer.
- She's vowed to return America to the prosperous days of the Clinton '90s. That is, just before the wealth-on-paper dotcom bust and companies like Enron and Worldcom sh*t the bed.

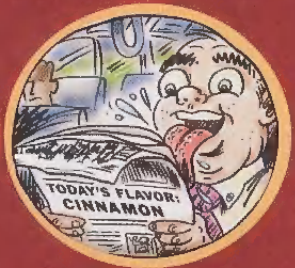
Plant false rumors about the competition.



If they can't make ink that doesn't rub off on readers' fingers, at least make it edible.

Lose the stuffy priggishness of the editorial pages and get with the times.

Sell papers in those mechanical claw machines. Most guys won't quit until they've spent at least ten bucks in quarters.

SELECTED HIGHLIGHTS FROM AL GORE'S TESTIMONY IN FRONT OF CONGRESS

Why is it always so damned cold whenever I make these global warming speeches? It's almost like God hates me or something.

When Earth cries out, we should caress and comfort her, not bitch-slap her like a cheap whore.

I want to see Earth Day become a major holiday, with erotic greeting cards, tire store sales, and all that crap.

We cannot leave this ailing planet to the next generation. Have you seen those apathetic, body-pierced freaks?

With this amazing eco-friendly soap, I'm helping the environment and softening my hands while I'm doing the dishes!

The world's oceans may be dangerously over-fished, but I'm sorry: I just can't pass up the all-you-can-eat deals at Red Lobster!

Now if the hole in the ozone opened up directly over the Supreme Court, that wouldn't exactly qualify as a catastrophe...

Back in Tennessee we have a saying, which I can't recall, since I've spent the last several decades in Washington and Hollywood.

I am currently working on another movie, though this one is about a pair of comically-mismatched cops who have to cooperate long enough to bust a drug ring.

The other day, I saw a Prius with a "Bush/Cheney 2004" bumper sticker. It totally blew my mind!

KENTUCKY FRIED TACO HUT

Dear Valued Customer:

Recently a television crew in New York City filmed a pack of six to eight rats scurrying on the floor, tables and counters in of one of our restaurants. We want you to know that this is totally unacceptable to us and we are taking immediate steps to make sure this never happens again.

1. EFFECTIVE IMMEDIATELY there is a maximum three rats per restaurant limit. Any restaurant franchise with more than that number must IMMEDIATELY send the overage to a franchise with no rats or one that is below quota.
3. Twice a day, employees must gather any and all rat droppings in one place so Health Inspectors can count them more easily. "One hundred rat dropping in the basement" sounds much better than "30 rat dropping were found on the tables, 34 on the counters and 36 on the food prep tables"!
4. When handling rodent droppings, employees must wear rubber gloves! If time permits, these gloves should be discarded before preparing food for customers.
5. To avoid a potentially dangerous stampede towards the exits, if a rodent happens to show up during the restaurant's operating hours, employees have been trained to say something like: "Oh that must be Rodney. Thank God he showed up! That poor little boy who lost him here earlier today has called a dozen times to ask if we found him!"
6. Finally, when the restaurant is closed, ALL LIGHTS MUST BE TURNED OFF! Our experts assure us this will keep the disgusting vermin at bay. And by "disgusting vermin," we mean nosey reporters with cameras! They can't film in total darkness!

We at Kentucky Fried Taco Hut want you to know that we value your patronage — especially after that whole e-coli outbreak a few months back. Whew! We really thought we were goners. But Americans proved their love of cheap bad food and came roaring back through our doors. We want to assure you that every one of our employees is committed to hiding this problem so you never again turn on your TV and see packs of rats swarming over our restaurants!

Sincerely,

Bill Burrows

DID JAMES CAMERON FIND THE ACTUAL TOMB OF CHRIST'S FAMILY?

YES!

Like Lazarus, the Jesus phenomena did seem to miraculously bring Cameron's career back from the dead.

1 Corinthians 15:7 states "After he (Christ) was seen of James, of all the apostles." Pretty straightforward prophecy, if you ask us.

First there were two black coaches in the Super Bowl, then Martin Scorsese won the Oscar, and these historical coincidences always seem to happen in threes.

The DVD got 4½ stars on the Discovery Channel Store website, which is good enough for us.

There was a wristband found inside that said "What Would J Do?"

NO!

Scripture never mentions any "Uncle Irving."

We know from DaVinci Code that Mary Magdalene is buried in France.

The site isn't listed in 1,000 Places to See Before You Die, which you'd think it would be.

Each casket is clearly stamped with mortuary's website.

One of the bodies is indeed "Jesus," but the surname looks like "Gonzalez."

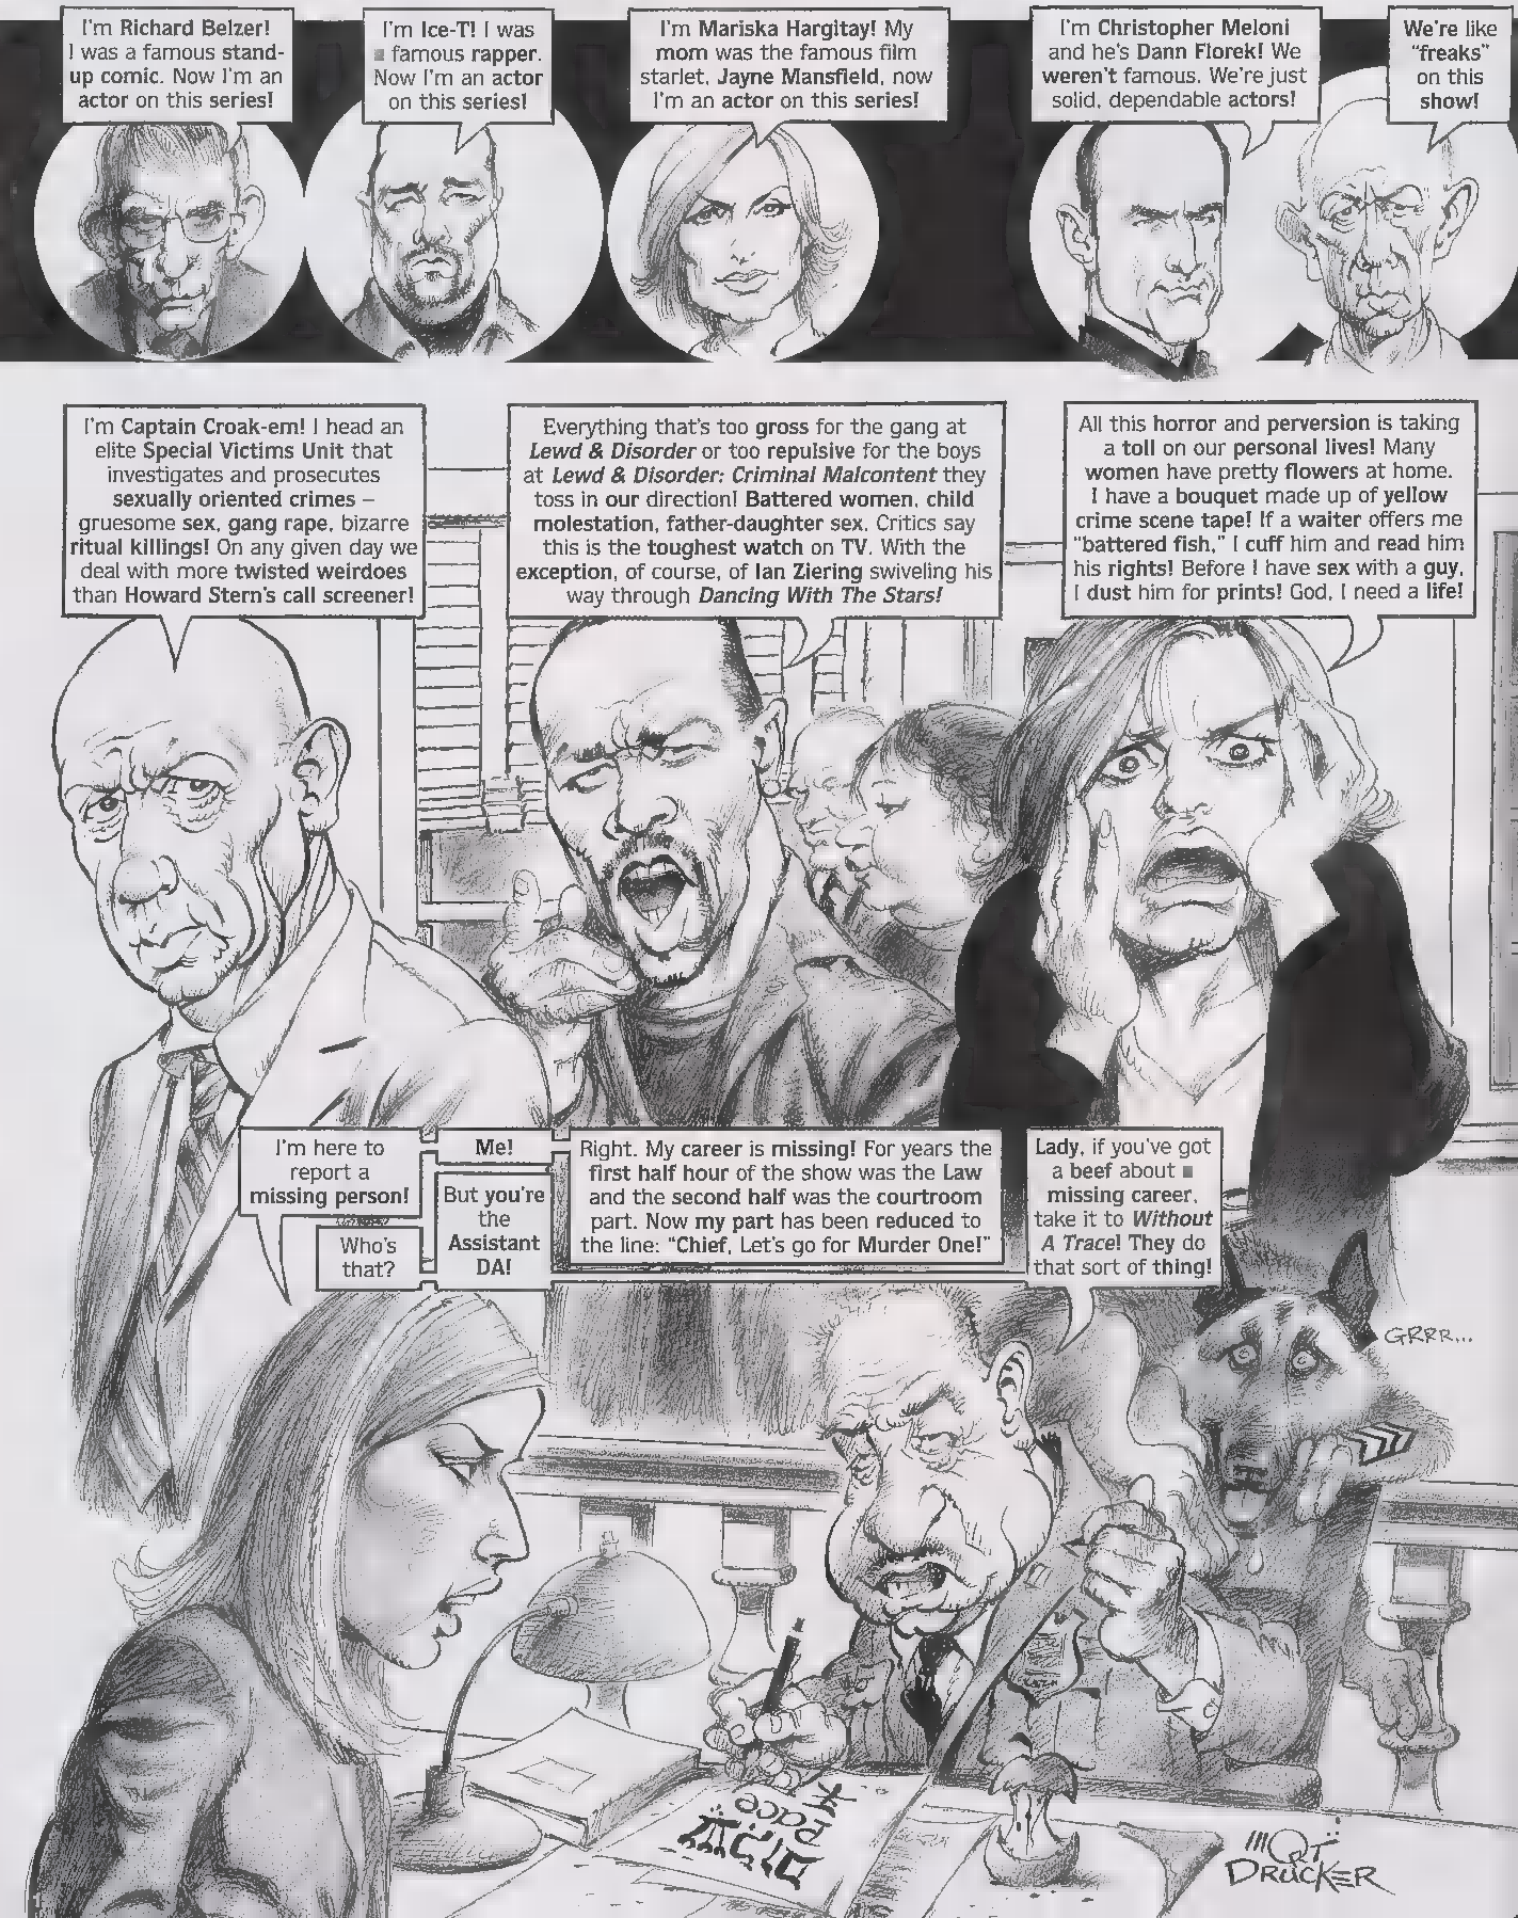
FRYING WOLF ONCE TOO OFTEN DEPT.



I'm Richard Belzer! I was a famous stand-up comic. Now I'm an actor on this series!
I'm Ice-T! I was famous rapper. Now I'm an actor on this series!
I'm Mariska Hargitay! My mom was the famous film starlet, Jayne Mansfield, now I'm an actor on this series!
I'm Christopher Meloni and he's Dann Florek! We weren't famous. We're just solid, dependable actors!
We're like "freaks" on this show!
I'm Captain Croak-em! I head an elite Special Victims Unit that investigates and prosecutes sexually oriented crimes – gruesome sex, gang rape, bizarre ritual killings! On any given day we deal with more twisted weirdoes than Howard Stern's call screener!
Everything that's too gross for the gang at Lewd & Disorder or too repulsive for the boys at Lewd & Disorder: Criminal Malcontent they toss in our direction! Battered women, child molestation, father-daughter sex. Critics say this is the toughest watch on TV. With the exception, of course, of Ian Ziering swiveling his way through Dancing With The Stars!
All this horror and perversion is taking a toll on our personal lives! Many women have pretty flowers at home. I have a bouquet made up of yellow crime scene tape! If a waiter offers me "battered fish," I cuff him and read him his rights! Before I have sex with a guy, I dust him for prints! God, I need a life!
I'm here to report a missing person!
Who's that?
Me!
But you're the Assistant DA!
Right. My career is missing! For years the first half hour of the show was the Law and the second half was the courtroom part. Now my part has been reduced to the line: "Chief, Let's go for Murder One!"
Lady, if you've got a beef about missing career, take it to Without A Trace! They do that sort of thing!

I hate pedophiles! I won't be happy until every sicko-pervert in New York City is behind bars! Actually, I won't be happy then, either. I don't "do" happy! Each week I seem to be spiraling into a deeper depression! If you own the Lewd & Disorder: It's P.U. DVD set, check out the outtakes from season three, episode 6. I think I actually broke ■ smile in that one. Hang on to it. It's a collectors item! Still, every prime-time drama needs a hunk and I'm the designated hunk on this show. Okay, so I'm not exactly Dr. McSteamy on Grey's Anatomy or Matthew Fox on Lost, but, in the world of detectives, I kick the @#$% out of, say, Monk!
I'm Dr. Hung, the forensic psychiatrist and staff shrink! My job is analyzing the creeps and filth that populate New York City! More horrors than ■ human being should tolerate — sodomy, child abuse, school shootings! But the worst ever was last night, I had to sit though a Knicks game! The horror! The horror! We are one sick, sick society!
And that's only Manhattan! The really freaky stuff is up in the Bronx!
Let's go with the missing co-ed thing! It appeals to our target demographic audience... 48-54 year-old married men who are horny!
Spelling Bee runner-up is dumped in an area frequented by prostitutes.
Nursery school kids are terrorized by roving gangs wearing "Hilary Duff" masks.
Beautiful co-ed mysteriously abducted from her dorm
A medium brings someone back from "the other side" and that person is killed again on Tenth Avenue.
A mother and her nine-year-old daughter are found butchered in a Laundromat.
Bizarre ritual killing at a wax fruit store.
A 71 year-old grandmother turns stripper and dies mysteriously doing a pole dance.
A butcher and his grandson are found laundered to death in a dry cleaner.
Stomper, we've been partners now for six years!
I'm always here for you, Buxom! I have your back! Incidentally, there's a lot to be said for your front! Talk about "New York's finest"!
It's curious. In all that time you've never hit on me!
I'm afraid! If we get romantically involved it would take the relationship to a totally new level!
Yeah. It's called interesting!

There's a popular TV reality show featuring a super-macho, self-proclaimed "bounty hunter" who tracks down dangerous fugitives and elusive criminals. There's only one problem – his dangerous fugitives aren't particularly dangerous, and his elusive criminals take about seven minutes each to track down. Who is this "fearless lawman"?

I've never gone after a dangerous criminal I didn't bring in – mainly because I've never gone after a dangerous criminal! But that jaywalker over there? His ass is grass!
I'm Breasts – Dud's big and beautiful wife! People used to tell me I was a less glamorous, less intelligent version of Anna Nicole Smith! But then she died. Now people tell me I'm slightly more glamorous and intelligent than she is!
I'm Teeveeland – one of Dud's nine sons, and proud of it. I got tattoos like my dad, I cuss like my dad, I've been in jail like my dad and now I'm a bounty hunter just like my dad! My dad's really proud of me – 'cause I'm my own man!
I'm Brain-Free, another of Dud's sons – and one of the smart ones! I'm the only one who knew that a "bounty hunter" wasn't somebody looking for paper towels in a supermarket! WHAT HAS MANY AMERICAN STUDENTS JITTERY AND EDGY?

HERE WE GO WITH ANOTHER RIDICULOUS

MAD FOLD-IN

Being a typical student means putting up with a lot of stuff that's hard to swallow. These poor, hard-working kids feel so much pressure inside, it's a miracle they can get through the day. To find out what is keeping them wide awake and anxious all night long, fold page in as shown.
